

Adult Services

Support for adults exhibiting moderate to severe behaviour

Support for adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities who are experiencing any of the following:

- Unusual behaviours (e.g. aggressive, violent, or withdrawn)
- Severe mood swings
- Poor social relationships
- Attention deficit and/or hyperactivity, depression, anxiety, substance abuse, eating disorders, and self-care difficulties

Services are offered in the family home, hospital, workplace or anywhere in the community.

Family home:

Behaviour Programming – develop and implement programs that re-enforce acceptable behaviours.

Hospital:

Support is provided to assist with behavioural needs during hospitalization and upon discharge.

Workplace:

For adults with special needs, services are available to assist in skill development, learning appropriate work behaviours, and to provide support and encouragement.

All service is provided on a fee-for-service basis.
